The California Department of Consumer Affairs (DCA) is pleased to present this 2011 edition of the Consumer Resource and Referral Guide. The Guide has tips, information, and references on health, money, housing, recreation, children, pets, and more. It is part of DCA’s commitment to give consumers the tools to make smart, informed decisions in a complex and changing marketplace. We hope you will find it useful.

The 2011 Consumer Resource and Referral Guide was compiled, edited, and designed by DCA’s Office of Publications, Design & Editing. If you have suggestions or updates, please contact us.

INTRODUCTION

Tips for Consumers

The best way to protect yourself from fraud, scams, or problems is to be an informed consumer. Here are some tips:

Buying Goods and Services

- Decide in advance exactly what you want and what you can afford.
- Don’t buy on impulse or under pressure. Do your research before buying anything.
- Ask family, friends, and others you trust for advice based on their experience.
- Gather information about both the seller and the item or service you are buying.
- Review product test results and other information from consumer experts.
- Get advice and price quotes from several sellers.
- Make sure that the seller has a professional license if one is required. Go online to www.dca.ca.gov or call 800.952.5210 for information about professionals licensed by DCA.
- Check out a company’s complaint record with the Better Business Bureau.
- Get a written copy of guarantees and warranties. Compare their features.
- Get the seller’s refund, return, and cancellation policies. Some stores will not accept returns if you wait too long. Some stores will not accept returns if you’ve opened the package or removed the tags.

Ask Before You Buy

- Ask whom to contact if you have a question or problem.
- Read and understand any contract or legal document you are asked to sign. Make sure there are no blank spaces. Insist that any extras you are promised be put in writing. Read all terms, especially those in fine print.
- Consider paying by credit card. If you have a problem, you may be able to dispute a charge made on your credit card.
- Save all contracts, sales receipts, canceled checks, manuals, and warranty documents for the warranty period.
- Read and follow product and service instructions. The way you use or take care of a product could affect your warranty rights.

Extended Warranties and Service Contracts

Consumers who purchase electronic and home appliances are often asked if they want to purchase a service contract.
Here are some tips from DCA’s Bureau of Electronic and Appliance Repair, Home Furnishings and Thermal Insulation:

- Ask to see a copy of the contract before you purchase it.
- Compare the manufacturer’s warranty (which is included in the purchase price and typically lasts three months to one year) with the service contract. By comparing the two, you can avoid paying for duplicate coverage.
- Keep a copy of any paperwork received, including original receipt and service contract, in a safe place.

What to look for in a service contract:
- Is the product identified?
- Is the contract transferable to another owner?
- Is it clear when the contract begins and ends?
- Does the contract cover only certain parts or components?
- Will you have to pay any fees for service?
- Is there a limit on the number of service calls that will be covered?
- Does it cover regularly scheduled maintenance?
- Does it list the address where the product may be taken for service or a toll-free number to call?
- Is the seller’s business name and address on the contract?
- Is the contract administered by a different company than the one that sold the contract?

The Bureau of Electronic and Appliance Repair, Home Furnishings and Thermal Insulation regulates sellers and dealers of service contracts for the repair of consumer electronics and appliances in California. If you have a problem with a service contract you bought, first try to resolve it with the contract seller or administrator, or the company performing the repairs. Information on filing a complaint is available online or by phone.

DCA Professional and Occupational Licenses

The Department of Consumer Affairs (DCA) licenses and regulates more than 2.5 million Californians in 255 professions and occupations, including doctors, nurses, barbers, contractors, funeral directors, security guards, pharmacists, and manicurists. Licensing benefits consumers paying for services, and it benefits businesses and licensees concerned about the honesty and the quality of their professions. A full list of the DCA licenses is available at the back of this Guide.

DCA’s licensing process includes verifying required education and experience, screening for criminal backgrounds, and monitoring all continuing education requirements. Some information on the people and businesses licensed by DCA is available to the public. See the DCA Web site for specifics.

DCA investigates complaints against license holders and may take disciplinary action against those who violate State laws or regulations. Complaints from the public are welcome. The DCA Web site has information on how to file a complaint. Consumers can also call the Consumer Information Center to have a complaint form mailed to them.

Inquire Before You Hire

In addition, it is illegal for contractors to perform contracting work on any project valued at $500 or more in labor and materials. For more information about licensing requirements or to report unlicensed contractors, contact the Contractors State License Board. Complaints may be filed online.

Inquire Before You Hire, DCA’s campaign to stop unlicensed activity.

Other State Licensing Entities

The California Department of Real Estate, the Office of Real Estate Appraisers, the Department of Corporations, and the Department of Financial Institutions regulate most of the real estate and financial service industries and professionals in California. For licensing information on all four agencies, go online to www.dre.ca.gov (Click on Real Estate & Financial Services License Status Check.)

Professions and institutions licensed by the four entities include:

- State-chartered banks
- California finance lenders
- Check sellers, bill payers, and proraters
- Credit unions
- Deferred deposit originators (payday lenders)
- Financial planners
- Foreign banks
- Independent escrow companies
- Industrial banks
- Investment advisers
- Issuers of travelers checks
- Issuers of money orders
- Mineral, oil, and gas brokers
- Mortgage brokers
- Prepaid rental listing services
- Real estate appraisers
- Real estate salespersons and brokers
- Residential mortgage lenders
- Securities broker-dealers and agents
- Transmitters of money abroad
- Trust companies and departments

For more information about financial entities, including federally chartered banks, see the Money section of this Guide.

How to Handle Complaints

If you have a problem with a product or service, do not wait to complain. The first step is to contact the business that sold the product or performed the service. A letter to the manager is often the most effective approach. The letter (see sample at right) should outline the product purchased, the problem, and the resolution you are seeking. Keep copies of all correspondence.

If you paid for the item by credit card, you may have the right to withhold payment. Check with the bank or financial institution that issued your credit card.

Dear (Contact Person),

On (date), I (purchased, leased, rented, or had repaired) a (name of the product, serial or model number or service performed) at (location, date, and other important details of the transaction).

Unfortunately, your product (or service) has not performed well (or the service was inadequate) because (state the problem). I am disappointed because (explain the problem; for example, the product does not work properly, the service was not performed correctly, I was billed the wrong amount, something was not disclosed clearly or was misrepresented, etc.).

To resolve the problem, I would appreciate (state the specific action you want – money back, credit on bank card, exchange, etc.).

I look forward to your reply and a resolution of this problem. I will wait until (set a time limit) before seeking help from a consumer protection agency or the Better Business Bureau. Please contact me at the address or phone number on this letter.

Sincerely,

Formal Complaints

If a letter to the manager does not resolve the problem, you may want to complain to the Federal, State, or local agency that licenses or regulates the business or profession.

Through its entities, DCA issues more than 2.5 million licenses, certificates, or approvals in approximately 240 classifications. Each DCA entity has information on its Web site to guide you on filing a complaint against one of its licensees. To find the entity you need, consult the list at the back of this Guide or visit: www.dca.ca.gov/online_services/complaints/consumer_complaint.shtml.

Call the DCA Consumer Information Center at 800.952.5210 to have a complaint form mailed to you.

For information on filing a complaint with non-DCA entities, see the Consumer Topics section of this Guide.

Free Publication: Your Voice is Powerful! Learn What You Can Do to Resolve Complaints from the Department of Consumer Affairs. View it online or call to have a copy mailed to you at no charge. www.dca.ca.gov 800.952.5210 or 866.320.8652

Dispute Resolution

Many consumers and businesses use dispute resolution programs – such as mediation and arbitration – to settle a dispute without going to court. Some businesses require consumers to arbitrate their disputes. See your product’s warranty documents for specifics. Mediation involves a neutral third party – a mediator – who helps you and the other party try to resolve the problem. A mediator can propose terms to settle the conflict, but the consumer or business does not have to agree to the mediator’s terms. Information on finding a mediator is available on the DCA Web site. www.dca.ca.gov/consumer

The DCA Complaint Resolution Program helps resolve consumer complaints filed against many of the industries DCA regulates. Complaint resolution services are free and are available throughout California. For more information, see the brochure Complaint Resolution Program: Bridging the Gap to Mutually Acceptable Resolution. View it online or call to have a copy mailed to you at no charge. www.dca.ca.gov/publications 800.952.5210 or 866.320.8652

Legal Help

Small Claims Court

In most California counties, Small Claims Court advisory services are available at no charge. A Small Claims Court advisor can help you prepare your case. The staff of the Small Claims Court in your county can tell you how to contact the advisory service. The online California Courts Self-Help Center, sponsored by the Judicial Council of California, has information on Small Claims Courts and advisory services. www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp

For more information about Small Claims Court, consult the DCA handbook The Small Claims Court: A Guide to Its Practical Use. The booklet is available in English and Spanish. View it online or call to have a copy mailed to you at no charge. www.dca.ca.gov/publications 800.952.5210
Finding a lawyer
The State Bar of California maintains a Lawyer Referral Services Directory that can help you find a lawyer to meet your needs. Call or go online for assistance.

Cyber Safety
Experts say one in five children is sexually solicited online, and one in four is exposed to pornographic material. Children are often unaware that predators, skilled in cultivating trust, may be in a favorite chat room.

Children are also prime targets for “phishing” schemes. They are lured to sites, enticed by “freebies” or “instant win” pop-up windows. Once there, children are persuaded to provide personal information about themselves, supposedly to enter a drawing or claim a prize. By doing so, they can expose themselves and their families to identity theft, privacy invasion, and more.

The State of California sponsors a Web site that offers safety tips and resources for parents, educators, and law enforcement, as well as links to industry experts.
www.cybersafety.ca.gov

Here are some tips from the Web site:
• Keep a child’s computer in an open area of the house to make it easier to monitor what the child is viewing.
• Install filtering software on the computer or use child-friendly search engines.

• Use anti-virus software and make sure to update it regularly.
• Remind children not to give out personal information online to someone they do not know, and not to meet in person with someone they first met online.
• Do not respond to offensive or dangerous e-mail. Encourage your child to follow three simple steps: stop, block, and tell. Stop the correspondence immediately; responding can make the situation worse. Block the user from sending additional e-mails. Tell a parent or trusted adult about the situation.
• Do not open attachments from unknown sources. Similarly, do not respond to pop-ups on your computer.

Privacy Protection and Identity Theft
California is the first state in the nation to have an office dedicated to promoting and protecting the privacy rights of consumers. The California Office of Privacy Protection (COPP) was created by legislation in 2000 and opened in 2001. Its mission is to identify consumer problems in privacy protection and encourage the development of fair information practices.

Contact COPP for information on privacy protection issues, including what to do if you are a victim of identity theft.
www.privacy.ca.gov
866.785-9663
916.651.1086

The California Office of Privacy Protection offers these tips to protect yourself from identity theft:
• Protect your Social Security number. Don’t carry your Social Security card in your wallet.
• Fight “phishing” – don’t take the bait. Scam artists “phish” for victims by pretending to be banks, stores, or government agencies. Don’t respond to a request to verify your account number or password. Legitimate companies do not request this kind of information by e-mail.
• Keep your identity from being trashed. Shred papers with personal information before you throw them away. Shred credit card offers and “convenience checks” that you don’t use.

• Don’t click on links in pop-up windows or on links in spam e-mail.

• Click with caution. When shopping online, check out a Web site before entering your credit card number or other personal information. Enter personal information only on secure Web pages with “https” in the address bar and a yellow padlock symbol in the browser window frame.

• Check your bills and bank statements regularly. Look for any unauthorized charges or withdrawals and report them immediately. Call if bills don’t arrive on time.

• Stop most pre-approved credit card offers. They are tempting target for identity thieves who steal your mail. To have your name removed from credit bureau marketing lists, call 888.5.OPTOUT (888.567.8688).

• Check your credit reports for free. You can get one free credit report every year from each of the three national credit bureaus: Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. Order your free annual credit reports by phone, toll-free, at 877.322.8228, or online at www.annualcreditreport.com.

Take Charge! California

In March of 2009, the Department of Consumer Affairs launched a new public awareness campaign to help consumers who are facing financial struggles in this economic downturn.

Take Charge! California urges consumers to “Be Smart, Be Safe, and Be Heard.” It offers easy access to information and resources needed to make smart choices when hiring a professional or tradesperson.

The centerpiece of the campaign is the Take Charge! California Web site, which provides information and resources on a variety of topics.

The Web site includes:

• Tips on getting the most for your money when shopping.

• Alerts on the latest consumer scams and fraud.

• Advice on how to resolve a complaint if you are dissatisfied with a product or service.

• An easy way to check the licenses of professionals you hire.

• Free and low-cost services to help stretch your budget.

• Tip sheets covering topics ranging from acupuncture to vision care.

The Web site also includes an outreach effort called “Take Charge of Your Health.” It has information and tips on healthcare providers, health insurance, medicines, mental health, health fraud and scams, and your health care privacy rights. Click on “Consumer Outreach Campaigns” to find it.

Better Business Bureau

Better Business Bureaus (BBBs) are nonprofit service organizations supported by businesses, which stress compliance with ethical standards of marketplace conduct. The BBB offers consumers a variety of educational materials and performance reports on individual companies.

BBB may be able to arbitrate consumer business disputes informally and privately if the consumer and business cannot resolve an issue. Both parties must agree to the arbitration decision, which is final and binding. Each BBB has its own policy about reporting information and may or may not tell the consumer the nature of the complaint against a business, but all offices will tell a consumer if a complaint has been registered.

Remember, the BBB does not endorse, recommend, or disapprove of any product, service, or company.
The BBB can:
• Assist consumers in disputes with businesses. The complaint must be made by the person involved. No third-party involvement or representation is allowed.
• Provide reports on the past marketplace performance of local and national companies.
• Provide free pamphlets and general reports for consumers on more than 150 topics.
• Monitor and evaluate advertising for truth and accuracy.
• Provide reports on charitable organizations.
• Offer free, dispute resolution for marketplace disputes.

Donating to Charities
The Better Business Bureau offers these tips to help ensure that your donation to charity does the greatest good.

• When in doubt, check it out. When an unfamiliar organization asks you for a donation, don’t contribute without gathering details about the charity, the nature of its programs, and its use of funds. Visit the BBB Web site (www.bbb.org) for an accountability report.

• Think before you give. If you are solicited at the mall or on the street, take a minute or two to think. Ask for the charity’s name and address. Get full identification from the solicitor and review it carefully. If you decide to donate, don’t give cash. Write a check made payable to the charitable organization.

- Unordered merchandise is free. If a charity sends you greeting cards, address labels, or other merchandise with an appeal for donations, you are not obligated to pay for the items. These “free” items are funded out of the contributions received from donors.

- Watch out for charity fraud. Legitimate charities willingly provide written information about their programs, finances, or how donations are used; and they never insist you provide your credit card number, bank account number, or any other personal information.

- Verify the organization’s Federal tax-exempt status online at www.irs.gov/charities.

HOW TO USE THIS RESOURCE AND REFERRAL GUIDE

This handbook is part of a continuing effort to enhance consumer access to services and resources. Most of the information listed here comes from State and Federal agencies, but some outside groups and organizations are included as a convenience to consumers.

The entries are grouped by topic, and most are cross-referenced. Consult the table of contents or browse the topic categories to find the subject that interests you. Each entry contains basic information on the service or benefit and guidance on how to contact the entity that provides it.

Information in this Resource and Referral Guide may be copied for noncommercial use if the text is not changed or misrepresented, if credit is given to the Department of Consumer Affairs, and if the information is distributed at no charge.

Although the DCA strives for accuracy in its publications, any publication may contain errors. Consumers should contact each entity directly to verify the information. References and links to commercial sources are for convenience only and do not constitute an endorsement by the Department of Consumer Affairs. The DCA Web site has a variety of consumer publications available to the public at no charge. The full list of available publications, and instructions on how to order by mail, are available online. www.dca.ca.gov

Bulk copies of this and all DCA publications are available to consumer groups, nonprofit organizations, and government entities at no charge. Quantities may be limited.

Drivers under 18 may not use a cell phone, even with a hands-free device, while driving. Sending, receiving, or reading text messages while driving is prohibited for all ages of drivers. Details on the laws are available online from the Department of Motor Vehicles. www.dmv.ca.gov

Collisions

Do you know what to do if you are involved in an collision in California? Here are some tips from the California Department of Insurance.

• Stop at the scene, but in a safe location.

• Call 911 if there are injuries.

• Get as much information at the scene as you can, including the names, addresses, phone numbers, and driver license numbers of any drivers involved; the makes, models, and license numbers of vehicles involved; and the names, addresses, and phone numbers of passengers and witnesses.

• Take photographs of the damage, the position of the cars, and the collision scene.

• Leave a note with the names, addresses, and phone numbers of the drivers and owners of the cars involved if a damaged car is not occupied.

• Notify your insurance company immediately.

If anyone is injured or the vehicle damage is more than $750, you must report the collision to the California Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) within 10 days. Report forms are available online or at DMV offices. www.dmv.ca.gov 800.777.0133

Senior Drivers

The Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) will not re-examine a person’s ability to drive solely because of his or her age. However, police officers, medical personnel, family members, and others may request a re-examination based on specific observations. Requests can be anonymous. DMV has information for senior drivers, including a self-assessment to help drivers determine their limitations.

Free publication: Senior Guide for Safe Driving is available online from DMV.

Free publication: Safer Driving for Mature Drivers is available from the Department of Insurance.

AARP has information for older drivers, plus details on local driver safety classes.

AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety has information about and for older drivers. A link on its Web site takes you to a comprehensive list of senior-friendly cars and features.

Tip: If you are older than 55, your insurance company may offer a discount if you complete a driver safety class. Check with your insurance agent for specifics.

Smog Check

Most vehicles more than six years old are required to have a Smog Check every two years under California’s Smog Check Program, which is overseen by the Bureau of Automotive Repair (BAR). The Consumer Assistance Program from BAR may be able to help you if your car fails its Smog Check. Qualified car owners may be eligible for up to $500 to pay for smog-related repairs. Car owners must submit an application to be accepted for the program.

The Consumer Assistance Program also offers a vehicle retirement option that will pay you $1,000 to retire your vehicle. Interested car owners must submit an application to be accepted for the program.

Applications and information are available online, or you can call to have an application mailed to you.

Summer Driving

The Bureau of Automotive Repair (BAR) recommends that you make sure your car is ready for the rigors of hot weather driving before heading out on a summer road trip.

Here are some suggestions from BAR:

- Consider a pre-trip inspection by a qualified mechanic.
- Test the air conditioning.
- Inspect the battery and battery cables for corrosion, cracks and dirt.
- Have a licensed brake adjuster inspect the brake pads and linings for wear.
- Change the oil and filter according to the manufacturer’s recommendations.
- Make sure all tires (including the spare) are inflated properly.
- Test the car’s interior and exterior lights.
- Change the air filter according to the manufacturer’s recommendation.
- Have the radiator and hoses checked for leaks and wear.

Teen Drivers

New drivers under 18 years old are issued a Provisional License, which restricts when they can drive and when they can have passengers. Drivers under 18 may not use a cell phone, even with a hands-free device, while driving. Sending, receiving, or reading text messages while driving is also prohibited.

The Department of Motor Vehicles has a Web site specifically for teen drivers. www.dmv.ca.gov/teenweb

Traffic Violator School

If you are cited by the police for certain types of traffic violations, you may be able to attend an eight-hour traffic violator school to avoid having the violation appear on your driving record. Some schools offer online instruction, but check with your local traffic court before you enroll to be sure the court accepts a particular course. You will have to pay the cost of the traffic ticket, the fee for attending the traffic school, and possibly a court administrative fee. Schools are licensed by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Verify a school’s license and view a list of licensed schools online. www.dmv.ca.gov

General information on traffic citations and your rights is available online from the California Courts Self-Help Center. www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp

You may be able to pay your traffic citation online if you reside in certain counties. Find details online. www.ca.gov/HomeFamily/Driving/DrivingInCA/Rules/TrafficFines.html.

Tip: You may be allowed to attend traffic violator school as an alternative to a citation only once in 18 months. Check with the traffic court that has jurisdiction in your area.

Vehicle Arbitration

Arbitration Certification Program
1625 North Market Blvd., Suite N-112
Sacramento, CA 95834

Some of the advantages of vehicle arbitration are:

- State-certified arbitration programs allow oral presentations, which are open to observers.
- Decisions are made within 40 days after the program receives your application.
- Decisions are binding on the manufacturer, but not the consumer. A consumer can reject the decision and pursue the matter in court.

Winter Driving Tips

The California Highway Patrol recommends drivers carry the following items during winter road trips:
- Tire chains and tighteners.
- Flashlight with batteries, flares.
- Small shovel and windshield scraper.
- Blankets and waterproof, warm clothing.
- Snacks and drinking water.
- Cell phone with backup power source.

Tip: If you’re driving in dense fog, drive with your lights on low beam and keep the driver’s side window partially down to help you see and hear other cars on the road.

It has no jurisdiction over cemeteries operated by religious organizations, cities, counties, cemetery districts, the military, or Native American tribal organizations. If you do not know which entity regulates the cemetery you are interested in, ask the cemetery manager.

Cremations

Under California law, cremated remains may be handled in any of the following ways:
- Place them in a columbarium or mausoleum.
- Bury them in a plot in a cemetery.
- Keep them at your home.
- Store them in a house of worship or religious shrine if local zoning laws allow.

Under California law, cremated remains may be scattered in the following places:
- Areas of California where no local prohibition exists and with written permission of the property owner or governing agency.
- In a cemetery scattering garden.
- At sea, at least 500 yards from shore.

Cremated remains may be scattered by a licensed cemetery, cemetery broker, crematory, registered cremated remains disposer, funeral establishment staff member, or by family members of the deceased.

Eco-Burials

In an eco-burial or “natural” burial, the body is not embalmed and is buried in a biodegradable casket or burial shroud. More information about eco-burial and the cemeteries that offer it is available online.

Mechanic’s Liens

California law states that anyone who provides labor or materials to work on a house you own can record a Claim of Lien or a Mechanic’s Lien against your home if he or she is not paid. This puts your home at risk. Even if you pay your contractor on time, your home may still be at risk.
risk if the contractor fails to pay any other person who performed work or supplied materials in connection with your project. This could result in you having to pay a bill twice to protect your home.

Here are some suggestions from the Contractors State License Board on how to protect your home from a mechanic’s lien:

- Specify in the written contract that your contractor must obtain lien releases from each of the subcontractors and materials suppliers.
- In your written contract, require that your contractor obtain a payment bond to assure you that no liens for labor and material will be filed against your property.
- Make payments to your contractor in the form of a joint check to your contractor and to the person or company providing labor or materials.
- State in your written contract that you will use a licensed escrow company that specializes in handling funds for construction jobs. Instead of giving the money to your contractor, you give it to the escrow company, which then makes payments to your contractor, subcontractors, and suppliers. Escrow companies are licensed by the California Department of Corporations. (See www.corp.ca.gov.)

Vehicle Title Loans
Also called “pink slip” loans. In this type of loan, you turn over title of your car in exchange for a short-term loan. Consumer groups advise against these loans because they often come with high interest rates. It is not uncommon to see a monthly interest rate of 25 percent, which equals 300 percent Annual Percentage Rate (APR). The loans are for more than $2,500, which makes them exempt from California’s predatory lending laws. More information on car title loans is available from the Center for Responsible Lending.

Tattoos and Permanent Makeup

Practitioners who apply tattoos or permanent makeup must register with their county health department and comply with sanitation standards from the California Department of Public Health. It is against the law to apply a tattoo to a person under 18. The communicable disease office of your county’s health department will investigate complaints of unsanitary conditions. Check your local phone book under “County Government” for contact information.

Tip: For guidance on how to avoid Hepatitis C when getting a tattoo or piercing, go online to www.BeSmartWithBodyArt.org.

Piercing

Practitioners must register with their county health department and comply with sanitation standards adopted by the California Department of Public Health. A person who pierces only the ear lobe may be exempt from some of these requirements. The communicable disease office of your county’s health department has more information and may investigate complaints of unsanitary conditions. Check your local phone book under County Government for contact information.

Tanning Salons

Tanning salons are not regulated by any State agency. However, State law prohibits anyone under 14 years of age from using tanning beds in salons, tanning parlors, and spas. For minors ages 14 to 18, a parent must sign a consent form in person.
PETs AND OTHER ANIMALs

Animal Control

Animal control services are provided by city or county governments. Check your phone directory for offices in your area. These offices also have information on pet adoptions, low-cost vaccination clinics, lost or found animals, pet licenses, identification microchips, and more.

Disaster Preparedness for Pets

BePreparedCalifornia, a Web site from the California Department of Health Services, has disaster planning tips for pet owners. If you have to leave your home, officials recommend that you take your pets with you. Most emergency shelters will not take pets, so you’ll need to make other arrangements for their care. The Web site has advice on how to set up emergency care for your pets, and other resources.

According to the California Secretary of State’s Office, you may register to vote in California if you meet the following criteria:

• You are a U.S. citizen.

• You are a resident of California.

• You are at least 18 years old (or will be by the date of the next election).

• You are not in prison or on parole for conviction of a felony.

• You have not been judged by a court to be mentally incompetent to register and vote.

To register to vote, you must complete a voter registration form. Forms are available at public libraries, post offices, Department of Motor Vehicles offices, colleges, county registrar of voters offices, and other public venues. The deadline to register to vote is 15 days before each local and statewide Election Day. You will have to re-register each time you change your address. Registration information is available from the Secretary of State’s Office.
